As sick-out enters third day

City's firefighters summon union official

By PHIL LEWIS
Record-Herald City Editor

An International Association of Firefighters Union official was expected to meet with members of the Washington C.H. firefighters union today to discuss an apparent sick-out staged by the local union.

Lt. Cecil D. Seaman, president of the local union, reported that the international union office in Washington D.C. was contacted Thursday and a union official was dispatched to Washington C.H.

Seaman said he could not comment on what would occur at today's scheduled meeting or on how the meeting will affect the sick-out which entered its third day Friday when all three members of the Friday morning work crew called in sick.

The morning's action means all 10 of the local union members have participated in the sick-out.

Fire department members are reportedly allowed to take one day of sick leave without acquiring a written excuse from a physician. If the sick-out continues and no such excuses are presented by firemen, the city could possibly take some kind of disciplinary action.

Seaman reported the union members are still willing to talk to City Council members about disputes over salary increases and cuts in fire department benefits.

"We're hoping Council will contact us to meet with them," Seaman said Friday morning, adding that the meeting should be attended by all the Council members and all of the firemen.

Seaman said the firefighters feel the taxpayers are not getting adequate fire protection.

"We want the people to get what they're paying for — adequate fire protection," he stated adding, that reports the city still has adequate fire protection are misleading.

He said that even when the entire fire department force is assuming its regular duties, shift crews are still one man short. The lack of manpower has been one of the firefighters' major concerns for some time, according to Seaman.

The firemen's action of participating in an apparent sick-out have brought about at least one change in the fire department which Seaman says has been recommended by firefighters for some time. A switching unit that would feed phone calls from the fire department to the city police department dispatcher in case the fire department crew is out on call was installed Wednesday night by the city.

Seaman said he hoped negotiations could continue so that other problems in the fire department can be settled. "We want to settle this thing now," he said.

However, the city appears to be firm on its stand not to resume negotiations until the firemen abandon the apparent sick-out.

Council Chairman Mrs. Bertha McCullough said Wednesday night that the city would not meet with the firemen until they were over their illnesses and back on the job. She added that Council would not be pressured in its negotiations.

How Council will respond to news that a representative of the international union is meeting with local firefighters is unknown. However, Council was less than receptive to an international union official's presence

Officials question illnesses

City slices pay of 'ill' firemen

By PHIL LEWIS
Record-Herald City Editor

Six Washington C.H. firefighters who are participating in an apparent sick-out have reportedly had their pay cut for the day they were ill.

City Manager George Shapter confirmed the report Friday afternoon saying he questioned the illnesses of the past two days and took appropriate action.

According to Shapter the three firemen who reported sick Wednesday and the three who reported sick Thursday did not submit a satisfactory signed statement saying they were sick.

"We have forms they are to fill out for sick leave," Shapter said.

Provisions in the recently adopted personnel rules and regulations say that sick leave has to be approved by the city administrator. Under certain circumstances, being sick for at least two days in a six-month period, a written note from a physician is required.

Shapter said he discussed the docking of the pay with City Law Director Gary Smith and sent a memo to Fire Chief Maynard L. (Joe) Denen directing the pay checks be docked.

The three firemen who reported sick today will have their next pay checks docked, according to Shapter.

"When they get back to work we'll straighten this out," Shapter said.

WASHINGTON C.H. Fire Department Lt. Richard Reed answered charges from one city official that the present sick-out was predetermined and had nothing to do with negotiations at a special meeting held Wednesday.

Reed said members of the local firefighters union met Tuesday night to decide what action to take if city officials made no firm commitments at Wednesday morning's meeting.

Apparently no firm commitment was made and a sick-out was the action firemen decided to take.

Reed said city officials should have seen the sick-out coming.

"It's been building for a long time," he said.

James Ward, chairman of City Council's personnel committee, said Wednesday night that he felt the local firefighters union had decided to conduct a sick-out before a meeting with the personnel committee was held earlier in the day.

He contended that local and Columbus news media were informed of the sick-out shortly after the negotiation meeting was held and the union's negotiating committee would not have had time to poll its members about a possible sick-out.

The firemen were accused of bargaining in bad faith if the sick-out had been predetermined. The accusation came Wednesday night from Jack Balahtsis, who will assume a Council seat in January.

THERE have been no fires reported in Washington C.H. or Union Township since the 10-member city firefighters union began an apparent work slowdown Wednesday.

Fire department records show that only one emergency call has been turned into the fire department during the work slowdown. It did not involve a fire.

Shortly after 5:30 p.m. Wednesday, the fire department aided checking a leak from an auto gasoline tank.

There have been no emergency calls to the fire department since.

A MAN identified as a volunteer fireman in a photograph on the front page of Thursday's Record-Herald is not a volunteer, according to Washington C.H. Fire Department officials.

The man, Don Smith, is a former volunteer firefighter. He was reportedly visiting the fire department Wednesday night when the photograph, picturing the three city firemen who are not involved in an apparent sick-out, was taken.

All 17 volunteers of the city fire department have decided to lend support to the 10 firefighters who are participating in the sick-out. The volunteers have said they would report to fires, but they would not stay at the fire department or assume any duties of the firemen.

Association pledges 100 per cent support

Volunteers backing 'ill' firemen

By RICK WHAITE
Record-Herald Staff Writer

The local volunteer firefighters association says it supports the Washington C.H. union firefighters "100 per cent."

In a telephone conversation Thursday, association president Gary Anders said, "The feeling of the association members at last night's meeting is that they are 100 per cent behind the firemen."

About 12 of the 17-member volunteer firemen's association met with Fire Chief Maynard L. (Joe) Denen, Assistant Chief John Rockhold and City Manager George Shapter Wednesday night to discuss contingency plans for fighting fires in the wake of an apparent sick-out by members of the local firefighters union.

The union is in the midst of a dispute with City Council over the equalization of wages, sick leave, vacation time and holiday compensatory pay. Wednesday morning three of the four firefighters scheduled for the 24-hour shift left work claiming they were sick. Their action came shortly after a negotiating session with Council's personnel committee failed to reach a compromise over the disputed benefits.

The fourth member of the Wednesday duty-crew had reported in sick earlier.

Thursday morning, the sudden illness spread to three members of that day's four-man shift leaving only Denen, Rockhold and Fireman Pat Denen, the only three non-union firemen in the 13-man department, to handle fire calls.

Shapter had authorized Chief Denen to place volunteer firemen on duty with pay and maintain them on stand-by status at the fire station. However, at the Wednesday night meeting, the volunteers said they would respond to fires as they normally do and would not pull regular duty.

Anders said Thursday the main function of the volunteers is to aid the regular duty firemen in fighting fires.

But the association members also told the city manager if any other organization was called in to fight fires, the volunteers would not respond. Anders said the reason for that decision, made in an association meeting prior to the meeting with the chief and city manager, was that the volunteers felt such an action would not show good faith in bargaining with the firefighters union.

City Manager Shapter said that decision by the volunteers has not affected the city's contingency plans in the current situation.

"I assumed they were talking about bringing firemen in from other areas," he said. "We're not going to do that. We have no quarrel with them (volunteers)."

"They said they would respond when needed. I'm taking them at their word," Shapter added.

Mrs. Bertha McCullough, City Council chairman, agreed with Shapter.

"Their decision has caused no problems as far as I know," she said Thursday. "As long as Chief Denen, Assistant Chief Rockhold and Fireman Denen are at the fire house we will have sufficient coverage."

Having been in Columbus most of Thursday, Mrs. McCullough said she was unaware of the volunteers' decision not to respond to a fire call if another organization were called in to help. But she said, "I assume Chief Denen and Mr. Shapter are confident enough in the plans they have made or they would have contacted Council and I have not been contacted at all."

One of those plans was developed by Disaster Services Agency Director Ralston Smith and would put members of the agency on the streets of Washington C.H. to report fires in seven sectors by citizen band radio if a rash of fires were to occur.

Shapter said those agency members would be asked only to report fires, not fight them. He indicated that they have done the same kind of thing under other circumstances.

Cleveland Heights woman continues winning streak

CLEVELAND (AP) — Although Georgia Holland said she didn't expect to win the Ohio Lottery's 50-cent game again Thursday, at the same time, she said she didn't expect not to win.

Mrs. Holland collected another $75,000 to raise her winnings to a three-week total of $150,000.

The 32-year-old drugstore cashier from Cleveland Heights said people have been "just wonderful" to her since her winning streak began. "I have no complaints as far as friends and the public are concerned," Mrs. Holland said. She said some people have stopped in the store to congratulate her.

The mother of three can return next week and defend her title. Mrs. Holland said, "I didn't predict from last week to this week so I don't think I'll predict next week either."

Her plans for her winnings are to "put a large sum of it away for my children's education" and to travel. Mrs. Holland's husband is a school teacher in Cleveland.

Thursday's TV Bonus winners were: Marge Holcomb, Akron, $50,000; Lois Perry, Toledo, $10,000; and Anthony Simmons, Sagamore Hills, $5,000.

Other winners in the weekly 50 cent drawing were: O.F. Hershey, Caledonia, $7,500; Eleanor Lett, Springfield, $8,100; Marietta Ledesma, Columbus, $7,300; John Bowes, Fremont, $10,000.

The numbers drawn Thursday were: three-digit, 164; two-digit, 85; one-digit, 3; and six-digit 756685.

Federal judge rules

Kentucky exempt from blaze suits

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP) — A federal judge today dismissed the Commonwealth of Kentucky from all out of state suits brought in federal court in connection with the May 28 fire at the Beverly Hills Supper Club.

U.S. District Judge Carl B. Rubin also refused to determine the constitutionality of the commonwealth doctrine of sovereign immunity — whether the government can be sued. He denied a petition that charged that the doctrine violates the First and 14th Amendments to the Constitution.

Sovereign immunity for the northern Kentucky community of Southgate where the fire took place which killed 164 persons should be left to a state court for determination, Rubin said. Final ruling will be reserved until the state decision is made, Rubin said.

Rubin noted that a federal court does not have jurisdiction over a suit in which a state is a defendant when the sole basis for jurisdiction is diversity of citizenship.

Diversity of citizenship cases normally are under the federal courts when more than $10,000 is involved and the parties to the suit do not live in the same state. The 11th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution does not allow states to be sued.

Lawsuits totaling more than $1.5 billion have been filed so far as a result of the supper club fire.

"A state simply is not a 'citizen of a state,'" Rubin wrote in his order in dismissing the Commonwealth on its motion.

The Rubin decision does not exempt state officials from federal court actions.

In denying the request to strike down Kentucky's doctrine of sovereign immunity — a tradition in English common law which forbids governments from being sued without their consent — Rubin said:

"There is a temptation to view this disaster ... as a controlling necessity for changes in the law, however, it is not now nor has it ever been in the past an appropriate function of the court to allow public anger or public sympathy or public frustration to influence the objective determination that must be made."

"Plaintiffs' approach to the United States District Court is simply misplaced. It is to the legislature, as representatives of the ultimate source of government authority, that approach must be made in order that the law be changed."

Campbell County Circuit Judge John Diskin also is expected to rule today on the question of sovereign immunity. Both judges — who are presiding in the litigation — sat at a joint hearing on the subject of sovereign immunity last month.

Walkouts by safety forces 'key'

Passage predicted on weakened public employe bargaining bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A substantially weakened public employee collective bargaining bill emerged late Thursday from a Senate-House conference committee, with the sponsor predicting passage.

Biggest among three successful committee amendments was one by sponsoring Sen. Harry Meshel, D-Youngstown, which removes from the legislation an embattled provision that granted the right to strike to police and firemen as the only alternative to binding arbitration.

Meshel, who introduced the voluminous bill 11 months ago, said he became convinced in talks with other legislators that the right of safety forces to walk out was "the central issue."

He added that he sees the deletion as the only way to get an agreement, even in his own party which is trying to enact the bill over almost unanimous GOP opposition.

Under Meshel's amendment, police and firemen bargaining units and their government employers could voluntarily submit to binding arbitration as a means of averting a strike.

However, if employers refused binding arbitration, and instead went to fact-finding and nonbinding arbitration under other mechanisms in the bill, they could reject the arbiter's proposed settlement.

This would, however, require a three-fifths vote of the so-called legislative authority — such as a city council or board of county commissioners.

Once a settlement was thus rejected, a newly created Ohio State Employment Relations Board would name a new arbiter and the process would be repeated, until such time as a settlement was reached.

Both Republicans on the six-member conference committee voted against the amendment and the bill. Sen. Thomas A. Van Meter, R-Ashland, said he did so because the amendment failed to give unions the same right to reject an arbiter's award as it did the employer.

Van Meter conceded that he has spoken against numerous other features of the legislation in the past, but said he was convinced the Meshel amendment was unconstitutional because of its "lack of equity."

Otherwise, the conference committee, on insistence of the House, inserted compromise language that would allow members of Amish and other religious sects who object to being assessed union dues — even as non-members, as the bill otherwise provides — would not have to pay dues.

However, the employee and employer would have to agree on a charitable cause to which the employee then would donate an amount equal to union dues to the charitable organization. Several other states have such exemptions from agency shop laws, under which members and non-members are assessed, Meshel said.

Finally, the committee OK'd a clarifying amendment that assures no duplication of authority in the bargaining arena if a pending measure that involves tenure and rights of school teachers is finally enacted into law. It has been vetoed, but could be brought up for an override attempt in the legislature.

Grocery price numeral measure wins approval

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State representatives approved 55-36 Thursday a much-debated bill requiring supermarket items to have prices stamped on them in Arabic numerals.

It now goes to the Senate.

The bill, by Rep. Sherrod Brown, D-Mansfield, is directed primarily at stores using a new computer pricing system under which black and white, thick and thin lines are printed on items and then scanned at checkout registers to produce the price on the consumer's checkout list.

Brown said his bill is not intended "in any way to stop the computer system" but to assure that customers will know the price of items at the time they are taken from shelves.

He conceded that among the six markets in the state currently using the system, prices also are listed in Arabic numbers on shelves.

However, Brown said shelf pricing often is inadequate because tags can be moved or taken away by children. In addition, the computer system can be used to change the prices of items "with a flick of the wrist," he said.

In advance of Sadat's trip

Egyptians arrive in Israel

JERUSALEM (AP) — Greeted by wild applause from Israelis, 60 Egyptian officials and security men arrived in Israel today to prepare the way for President Anwar Sadat's historic trip.

But in most of the Arab world opposition boiled up against the first-ever visit by an Arab leader to the Jewish state.

In Washington, President Carter said he spoke with Sadat by phone and found the Egyptian leader "very excited, enthusiastic and confident. He hopes his visit will be successful in breaking down the animosities in the Middle East," Carter said.

Cairo Radio, reporting the telephone conversation, said Carter was "very impressed" with Sadat's move and congratulated the Egyptian "for taking the best road towards achieving peace" in the Middle East.

Hassan Kemal, Sadat's office director and leader of the advance party, emerged from the government plane at Ben-Gurion Airport, 30 miles west of Jerusalem, and said in Arabic: "We are very happy to be here, and especially at the welcome accorded our Egyptian plane."

"We left Egypt with a prayer in our heart and faith in Allah, and we shall have faith because our intentions are pure and we do want peace."

About 100 Israeli airport workers broke into applause and several Israelis had to be restrained from rushing up the ramp to greet the visitors.

The motorcade route to Jerusalem, 30 miles away, was lined with Israelis, some waving copies of the Maariv newspaper with bold red headlines in Arabic and Hebrew reading "Welcome President Assad."

In Ismailia, Egypt, Sadat prayed for peace within 12 miles of Israeli front lines. "God go with you," the congregation chanted in a mosque on the bank of the Suez Canal.

The Israeli government announced that Sadat's itinerary will include a visit to the Church of the Holy Sepulcher, the traditional site of Christ's tomb, and a tour of Yad Vashem, the national monument to victims of the Nazi holocaust.

Sadat will visit the church Sunday after worshipping at the Al Asqa mosque, East Jerusalem's hallowed Moslem shrine a few hundred yards from the church. The Egyptian leader's guide at Yad Vashem will be Prime Minister Menahem Begin.

In Kuwait, the radical Arab newspaper Al Watan quoted Ismail Fahmy, who resigned Thursday as Sadat's foreign minister, saying that he quit because he failed to convince Sadat to cancel the Israel trip.

Elsewhere in the Arab world, Iraq and radical Palestinian guerrillas called Sadat a traitor, Libya threatened to break off relations with Egypt, Syria called for a united front against Egypt.

To the militant Arabs, Sadat's voyage is a violation of Arab solidarity and recognition of the common enemy.

An explosion went off before dawn near the offices of an Egyptian airline in downtown Beirut, wrecking an outer door and smashing windows. On Thursday, a bomb ripped the garage of the Egyptian embassy in Damascus.

World comment on Sadat's visit ranged from "daring" and "positive" to "unforgivable."

The arrival of the Egyptian advance party was broadcast live on Israeli television. They were greeted by Kemal's Israeli counterpart, Eliahu benEllisar, and Ephraim Evron, Foreign Ministry director-general.

"You can't imagine how happy the Egyptian people are," one of the Egyptians told a reporter.

Meanwhile, Israeli radio's Arabic language service said it was devoting its programming to Egyptian music in honor of Sadat's coming visit and broadcast the hit tunes "You Are Dearer Than My Eye," and "Visit Me Once A Year."

Sadat will fly Saturday night to Ben-Gurion, where he will be greeted by Prime Minister Menahem Begin, President Ephraim Katzir and a military band playing the Egyptian national anthem.

Sadat is to speak Sunday in the Knesset, the Israeli parliament. Begin then will address the body. The two leaders may meet privately, as well.

The Egyptian president, despite stiff opposition from Arab leaders and two key resignations in his government, Thursday formally accepted Begin's invitation to visit Israel. U.S. Ambassador to Egypt Hermann Eilts gave Sadat the invitation at his residence in Ismailia.

The news in brief

HOUSTON (AP) — Forged from the spirit of 56 state meetings and further heated by conservatives' claims of under-representation, the National Womens' Conference is opening here to try to determine how to end sexual discrimination in the United States.

About 2,000 delegates have been elected or appointed to work on an agenda on women's problems for submission to President Carter and to Congress. They will be joined at the four-day meeting by as many as 18,000 observers.

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — "I'm going to be a hell of an American," said Charo, the blonde "coochie-coochie" girl, as she became a naturalized citizen.

A native of Spain, Charo and her sister, Carmen, were among 43 people who gained U.S. citizenship in a 30-minute ceremony Thursday.

The last three months have been busy ones for Charo, whose real name is Maria Rosario Martinez Molina Cugat Mingall.

Several weeks ago U.S. District Judge Roger Foley knocked 10 years off of Charo's age, making her 26. Charo, using affidavits from her parents as proof, claimed that her passport erroneously listed her birthdate as Jan. 15, 1941.

Charo claims it should be 1951, and that is what it now is — legally. Carmen did likewise, and Foley signed an order making her 29 years old, not 40.

On Tuesday of this week, Charo filed a petition in Clark County District Court seeking a divorce from bandleader-artist Xavier Cugat.

After decline since late 1960s

Klan's membership swells

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Ku Klux Klan is growing after a decade of decline as it switches from heated, antiblack rhetoric to slick public relations, says the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith.

"For the first time since the late 1960s, there has been an increase in Klan membership and visibility," said Irwin J. Suall, director of Jewish organization's domestic fact-finding unit.

The membership of three major KKK factions has risen about 20 percent in two years and now totals about 8,000, compared to 6,500 klansmen in 1975, Suall said in an interview.

The ADL offices around the country monitor the activities of the Klan and other groups considered anti-Jewish and estimate the number of members and supporters, Suall said.

Suall attributed the membership increase to several factors, including the rise of David Duke as a leader of one Klan faction.

"Duke is extraordinarily clever in manipulating the media," Suall said. "He tones down his views for public consumption, and he is being given platforms all over the United States."

"The impression has been spread around that there's been a national resurgence in the Klan and that it is now respectable to be a member of the Klan."

Duke, a 27-year-old college graduate and imperial wizard of the Louisiana-based Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, has attracted national media attention as "a new breed" of klansman.

However, Suall said Duke's organization, like other KKK groups, continues to be militantly anti-black and anti-Jewish.

Suall said another factor contributing to the growth is Klan's exploitation of America's current race-related issues, such as busing, crime, unemployment and affirmative action.

However, Suall said the Klan's current strength is slight compared to the height of the civil rights movement in the mid-1960s, when the ADL estimated about 40,000 active klansmen.

The ADL official said the KKK fell into decline largely because it failed to in its attempt to defend segregation in the South.

Internal bickering also took its toll. Suall said, as splinter groups broke away from the Alabama-based United Klans of America, headed by Robert Shelton.

Shelton's organization must now compete with Duke's group and the Indiana-based Confederation of Independent Orders of the Invisible Empire, Knights of the Ku Klux Klan.

The ADL estimates that the United Klans of America remains the largest group with 3,000 to 4,000 members. The confederation has 2,000 to 3,000 members and Duke's faction has about 1,000 members, Suall said.

Suall added that Klan sympathizers now total about 40,000 and that the movement has made progress in branching out from its southern base, showing growth on the Eastern Seaboard and in border states.

States where the Klan has increased membership include New York, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Kentucky, Florida, South Carolina, Virginia, Indiana, Texas and California, Suall said.

Announcement expected

Celeste tosses hat in governor's ring

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Lt. Gov. Richard F. Celeste was expected to make it official today and formally announce as a candidate for the 1978 Democratic nomination for governor.

Celeste's entry into the race has been anticipated almost since the day three years ago when he was elected to his present $30,000-a-year post in an upset victory. He is the first Democrat to announce.

Up until then, Celeste's career in state politics had been limited to two terms in the Ohio House where he rose to the rank of assistant majority floor leader.

His limited duties as lieutenant governor allowed him considerable time to plan a 1978 campaign and develop a statewide organization that picked up many followers of former Gov. John J. Gilligan.

As lieutenant governor, Celeste, 40, had almost no contact with Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes. The governor and lieutenant governor elected next year will serve as a team from the same party, as a result of a constitutional amendment approved by voters last year.

While he has few official responsibilities, his position has provided a base for speechmaking and ceremonial appearances before practically every public service or community group that wanted to hear him.

A native of Cleveland, Celeste and his Austrian-born wife Dagmar have six children. His campaign is being directed by younger brother Ted Celeste, a Columbus realtor, who managed President Carter's successful Ohio campaign.

A liberal on most matters, Celeste is expected to face a challenge from a moderate or conservative Democrat. Rhodes looms as the potential opponent for whomever captures the Democratic nomination.

Rhodes recently refused to approve a federal grant for Celeste's office to administer a program aimed at making sure youngsters are properly immunized.

A Rhodes scholar and Yale University graduate, the tall, athletically built Celeste tramped across the state, often dressed in a blue blazer, gray slacks and penny loafers, during his three years in office.

Some progress noted on energy legislation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional conferees are making progress toward a compromise energy bill, but the pace is so slow that doubts are being raised over whether the task can be finished this year.

"At the rate we're going, we'll be lucky to get natural gas resolved by Christmas," said Sen. Bennett Johnston, D-La., leader of the Senate conferees.

The administration has placed a major emphasis on getting a bill this year. President Carter has said the reputation of his first year's domestic program hinges on what Congress does with energy.

Johnston acknowledged the possibility that Congress may not finish work on energy until next year. "There's no particular magic in Dec. 31 versus Jan. 1, although we still hope to finish this year," he said.

Some of the biggest differences between the two chambers — including natural gas price regulation and energy taxes — have yet to be dealt with.

The conference panel that has been meeting for five weeks on non-tax aspects of the energy bill made some headway Thursday in resolving an impasse over electric rates.

The conferees approved Thursday a measure encouraging but not requiring states to consider conservation factors in setting electric rates.

It was a compromise between the House bill, containing President Carter's proposals for mandatory federal rate-making standards, and the Senate bill, which left rate-making entirely to the states.

Carter wanted to require electric utilities to charge lower rates for power used during off-peak times and higher rates when demand was heavy. He also wanted to end rate discounts for big industrial users.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A strike of flight attendants at United Airlines "appears likely" at midnight tonight, possibly affecting Thanksgiving holiday travelers next week, says the head of the flight attendant's union.

Federal mediators said, however, that contract talks between the union and United were continuing and that they were "optimistic" that an agreement could be reached before the strike deadline.

Patricia D. Robertson, president of the Association of Flight Attendants, said Thursday there "has not been enough progress" in the talks between the union and the airline.

The National Mediation Board has imposed a news blackout on the talks.

The contract between United and its flight attendants already has expired, leaving the attendants free to strike at 12:01 a.m. EST Saturday.

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Gone With the Wind" was chosen the greatest American film ever produced, edging out "Casablanca" and "Citizen Kane."

Lillian Gish and Fay Wray were there, and so were Elizabeth Taylor Warner and Ethel Kennedy. Others included James Stewart, Henry Fonda, and Charlton Heston and Henry Kissinger.

The occasion Thursday night was the American Film Institute's 10th anniversary gala benefit at the Kennedy Center. Earlier at a White House reception President Carter paid tribute to films as "a true people's art form."

George Stevens, director of AFI, announced the selection of the best film. He said the 1939 classic about the Civil War was the greatest among many equally great films.

The AFI, which was created by the National Council of the Arts in 1967 "to preserve the heritage and develop the art" of film and television, has catalogued nearly 14,000 films in its archives, grants funds to independent film makers, distributes a film journal.

At a later date, Mrs. McCullough said some Council members do not wish to deal with "higher ups", meaning international union representatives. She indicated this was the reason Council members were unwilling to recognize the local union.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT

AP Special Correspondent
LOS ANGELES (AP) - Well, Old Blue Eyes is back again. This time, Frank Sinatra, 61, is in a three-hour NBC movie, "Contract on Cherry Street," which airs this Saturday night.

It's his first TV movie. He plays a deputy police inspector in New York, where the movie was made. He runs an elite unit formed to fight organized crime and get good press for the mayor.

His crime-fighting force contains such fine actors as Martin Balsam, Harry Guardino, Henry Silva and Michael Nouri.

As "Contract" is about cops and mobsters, shots are occasionally heard. And no less than 14 hearties, mostly bad guys, are dispatched during this proceeding, written by Edward Anhalt.

True, 14 KIAs may be a mite excessive. But they are so spread out over the three hours, and the gore and on-camera violence is so minimal, Dirty Harry would turn over in his shoulder holster.

When it's time for a guy to be "taken out," a euphemism for "a hit," you usually only see the assailant firing his artillery at the camera, or a few .45-caliber air vents put in car windshields.

(There is much ado about folks being "taken out." If you don't pay attention, you may feel you're in a short-order corpse cafe.)

The film is a morality tale about honest, cynical cops tired of seeing their efforts sabotaged by their superiors, fainthearted prosecutors and overly lenient courts.

At one point, an embittered Balsam suggests the police take the law into their own hands, noting that even Sinatra at one time or another has "taken out" a no-goodnik.

"Of course, I have," Frank gently replies. "So have a lot of other guys. But that's like playing God." And he nixes the idea.

The cause of such talk is the cops' losing battle against stolen car parts operations involving two competing mobs.

Sinatra's character is the kind of warm, decent, brooding police veteran who never tells his wife (Verna Bloom) what's bugging him, a theme you may have seen exercised before in "Police Story."

Frustration is what's bugging him. And he finally sanctions police lawlessness when Balsam is slain by a black baddie (Johnny Barnes) during a raid on a garage where stolen cars are stripped for parts.

Sinatra does a good job, but the plot get mighty murky, the dialogue occasionally is laughable, and this "Contract" seems padded. Its pace might have been better at two or 2½ hours.

Opinion And Comment

The Nixon tapes case

The Supreme Court is considering the legal pros and cons of releasing tapes of Nixon-era White House conversations for broadcast and other public use. These recordings were heard by newsmen, jurors and others directly involved in the Watergate coverup trial, but thus far general public access has been denied.

Richard M. Nixon is asking the court to overturn a federal appellate court decision approving release of the tapes not only to be broadcast, but also for sale on cassettes and records. In support of this, Nixon's lawyer argues that Nixon and others whose voices were recorded would suffer needless "mental anguish" were the tapes released.

It also is contended in the disgraced former president's behalf that a) the recorded White House conversations were private, and b) while they were subpoenaed for use in a criminal trial this should not make them available for commercial exploitation.

These strike us as weak arguments. The transcripts of the conversations, taken from the tapes, already have been widely disseminated. It seems to us that the recordings, as much as the transcripts, are public documents.

Justice Thurgood Marshall made a persuasive point. Noting that "12 people on a jury" heard the tapes, he asked Nixon's lawyer: "It's no longer private is it?" He might have added that in all some 1,300 persons, including courtroom spectators as well as the jury, heard the tapes during the trial.

Perhaps most compelling of all is the response by Edward Bennett Williams, counsel for those seeking release of the tapes, to the plea that Nixon and others would be caused "mental anguish". He observed that "what (Nixon's) argument is reduced to is the right not to be embarrassed by his own inculpatory words when he was president. . . . That consideration carries little weight."

A WORD EDGEWISE....By John P. Roche

The trouble with allergies

Medical friends suggest I must have been involved passively in seminal research into allergies and their treatment. Some 40 odd years ago our family doctor admitted he was baffled; with no seeming justification I would break out with giant hives, wheeze and engage in other eccentric behavior. He had heard, however, that a physician at Long Island College Hospital in Brooklyn had a special interest in medical freaks like me and suggested an appointment.

On the appointed day I was stripped to the waist, laid out on a table, and my back covered with rows of scratch tests. Even given the primitive state of the art, the results were spectacular: I was allergic to just about everything! Unfortunately the tests did not differentiate clearly among foods, so mother was instructed to start me on a diet of baking-powder biscuit, poached filet of sole and bananas. Then she could add new items one by one and, if I broke out, drop the offender from the family menu.

Food allergies are often embarrassing, but after you once decide to be a good guest and eat the crab Newburg - and then spend the next eight hours thinking you are dying and wishing for deliverance - you get in the habit of notifying your hostess in advance. My most persistent problem, however, was the U.S. Army's World War II Bug-bomb, which was essential in the tropics but contained pyrethrum, which gave me asthma.

Once, after they took me wheezing like an organ to a general hospital, a genial doctor said, "they never should have let you in the Army." I suggested he get me out, but he just laughed sadly: "You know it's no joke, and so do I, but hard-nosed medical boards consider asthmatics malingering fakers." So he gave me some of the red pills - or were they the green?

The point of this autobiographical fragment is that, because of my extensive exposure to allergy problems, when I get some odd symptom I automatically look for an allergic source. Thus quite a few years ago I was stung on the back of the hand by a hornet while emptying the garbage. I figured the pain would stop, but the arm began to swell and throb and I felt wobbly - no time for heroics or stiff upper-lip stuff: my wife drove me to the doctor.

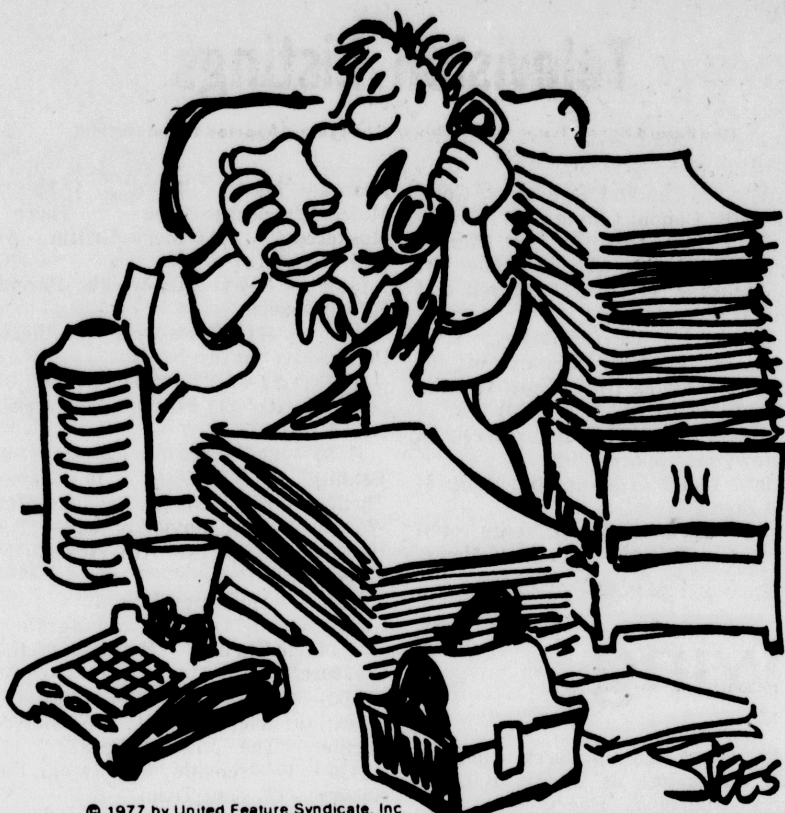

He took one look at the arm and reached for the needle and adrenalin. To make the story short, I was on the edge of anaphylactic shock which can cause death in 10 minutes. It took a couple of days for the arm, which had inflated all the way to the elbow, to go down, but the most important thing was I discovered my vulnerability. The doctor told me I should never travel without a syringe and adrenalin. He prepared a little kit for me - two syringes and two ampules (with instructions to renew the latter when the liquid turned yellow) - and sent me into the world.

Although he wrote a note on the purpose of the kit and enclosed it, I have some strange adventures with various customs officials. The minute I opened my attache case, it would be spotted and the adrenalin tentatively identified as liquid heroin. Then off to the medical officer. I think it was in Istanbul I ended up doing an imitation of a hornet buzzing, stinging, and me collapsing and reaching for kit. What the Turkish doctor thought of this weird performance I don't know, but he gave me back the kit.

There is no longer any need for this do-it-yourself emergency pack, several are commercially produced. However, I have learned that in many, if not most, states laws forbid the use of the kit except under a doctor's instruction. Obviously some caution is in order - you shouldn't be able to pick one up like aspirin. If, by mistake, the shot was given to someone with a heart attack, the consequences could be drastic.

Yet a significant number of individuals (four to eight per 1,000) share this potentially fatal problem. And time can be vital: if the school nurse or the forest ranger can not use the kit, there is a somber possibility the victim will be D.O.A. at the hospital or doctor's office. Dr. Claude A. Frazier, an eminent allergist from Asheville, N.C., has been campaigning for an educational program to alert individuals to the symptoms and train school nurses, police, pharmacists, rangers and paramedics to identify the syndrome and use the kit.

For obvious reasons, this strikes me as a cause worthy of national concern and wide publicity. Forty to 50 deaths a year are attributed to stings (others are probably misdiagnosed as heart attacks). The dead would be alive if they had just lugged around that silly little kit.

Farmers' woes mount

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Despite heavy rains, prolonged droughts and severe winters, the American farmer seems able to harvest record size crops with regularity.

If only, he laments, he could say the same for profits.

Farmers are upset. The most productive in the world, they help feed China and the Soviet Union as well as Americans. Again this year they will produce their biggest crop ever.

But out of it, they feel, they will not get their fair share.

The chief beneficiaries of their abundance, the consumers, do not always appreciate the farmer's skill and hard work. They blame him if the price of a loaf of bread goes up a few pennies a loaf.

If only he could depend on receiving those few pennies a loaf, the farmer muses.

The city dweller resents what he refers to as handouts to the farmer in the form of government efforts to manage prices and income, even though net income has always been an updown affair.

The city dweller, says the farmer, often works for a large company that is able to weather years of deficits. A farmer seldom can accumulate the financial reserves to survive years of losses.

Good growing weather and skilled handling of crops should, you would think, mean good times for the farmer.

Too often, says the farmer, the harder he tries the less he receives.

Right now some farmers think government has let them down. Unable on their own to obtain information about foreign crops, they relied on the Central Intelligence Agency and the Agriculture Department.

Both the CIA and the Agriculture Department failed to determine that the Soviets would come in with less than a bumper crop and thus would be buying in the U.S. market. Both overstated the size of the Soviet harvest.

Consequently, farmers sold their crops before learning that demand, and prices, would be greater than they expected. As in 1972, when what some farmers call the Great Soviet Grain Robbery occurred, some farmers feel everyone but they benefitted.

Maybe he should go on strike, the farmer says.

There's too he seems to be blocked — by his own independence and his financial stake.

Unlike union members, who rarely have a substantial investment in their workplace, farmers own their own production plants. To strike would be to hurt themselves, and the crops they worked so hard to raise. And, some say they are too independent to join together.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Should secretary run her boss's errands?

DEAR ABBY: I am the secretary for a business executive. This morning my boss handed me something in a paper sack and said, "During your lunch hour, will you please return this to the store from which it was purchased, and ask them to credit my wife's charge account." (I hate to return anything, but how could I refuse?)

When I tried to return the merchandise, I discovered it was a girdle, and "intimate apparel" is not returnable. I was embarrassed, humiliated and upset!

Abby, do you think a secretary should be expected to run errands like this for her boss?

How can I let him know I was hired as a secretary-not a messenger girl-without losing my job?

Right now I'm angry enough to write a letter of resignation, but jobs aren't that easy to find. What should I do?

UPSET

DEAR UPSET: The next time your boss asks you to do something that is not in the line with your secretarial duties, speak up and state your objections. If he fires you, he fires you. It's better than saying, "Yes, sir," while developing an ulcer.

DEAR ABBY: There's a certain group of kids of school, and if you don't belong to this group, you might as well be dead.

How can I get in with them? My mother keeps telling me there is nothing wrong with me, but I'm beginning to wonder.

Can you help me?

NOT IN

DEAR NOT: I can't think of a bigger waste of time and energy than trying to get "in" with a group of kids that apparently has no interest in you.

Strive to do well in your studies. Always be as well-groomed as possible. Be pleasant, cheerful and kind. Don't gossip. Be friendly, but not forward. And if you have one worthwhile friend—that's enough.

DEAR ABBY: What makes for sexual compatibility in marriage? There must be millions of married couples who read your column and would appreciate your thoughts on this.

WONDERING IN FT. DODGE

DEAR WONDERING: Sexual compatibility means mutual sexual satisfaction and fulfillment. Ideally, it is achieved by open and honest communication about what each party likes (and does not like) in sexual relations.

It sounds easy to achieve, but because so many people have grown up with hang-ups and inhibitions about sex, it's not all that simple. Sexual compatibility begins with total honesty and the ability to articulate one's feelings and desires.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "DEEPLY INVOLVED AND NO REGRETS IN BURLINGAME": If not for your own protection, consider the heartbreak such a revelation could cause your husband and family. Destroy those letters, and don't carry them with you for "safe keeping". Should you be involved in an accident and their contents are revealed, if you live, you'll be a dead duck.

Today In History

By The Associated Press
Today is Friday, Nov. 18, the 322nd day of 1977. There are 43 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1903, the United States and Panama signed a treaty granting U.S. rights to build the Panama Canal.

On this date:

In 1626, St. Peter's Basilica in Rome was consecrated by Pope Urban VIII.

In 1883, the United States adopted Standard Time to end the haphazard local times that were in use around the country.

In 1935, economic sanctions were imposed against Italy after the Italian invasion of Ethiopia.

In 1936, the Fascist governments of Germany and Italy recognized the Franco regime in Spain.

In 1966, U.S. Roman Catholics did away with the church rule against eating meat on Fridays.

In 1970, West Germany and Poland agreed to restore relations, ending 31 years of enmity.

Ten years ago: Michigan Gov. George Romney said he would seek the Republican presidential nomination and would campaign for American withdrawal from the Vietnam War.

Five years ago: The Soviet Union reported that it had provided more than $1 billion worth of military aid to less developed countries in 1971.

One year ago: Twenty-seven persons were executed in Ethiopia for alleged plots against the two-year-old military government.

Today's birthdays: Orchestra conductor Eugene Ormandy is 78 years old. Pollster George Gallup is 76.

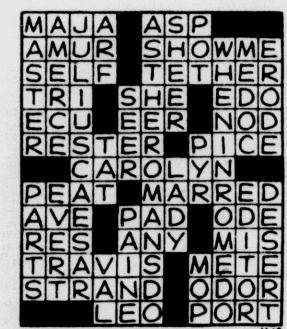

Thought for today: Once a woman has forgiven her man, she must not rehearse his sins for breakfast — entertainer Marlene Dietrich, born 1901.

The Ohio Historical Society was chartered in 1885 as a private nonprofit educational organization known as the Ohio Archaeological and Historical Society. It became a state organization in 1891. It administers historical, archaeological and natural history state memorials.—AP

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth Sign.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 19

ARIES
(Mar. 21 to Apr. 20)
Many Demands will be made on your time and effort. There won't be an easy way to handle but, with your optimism, originality and ingenuity, you'll find the means with which to cope.

TACRUS
(Apr. 21 to May 21)
Fine Venus influences! A good day for making important decisions — especially as they relate to creative projects, home and community affairs, personal relationships.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)
There's never a dull moment when you are at your best — and this is a day when you should be! There's plenty of planetary help for the ambitious, optimistic do-er!

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)
You may have to discipline yourself

sternly to keep on the road to accomplishment now. Be especially careful not to lose your temper if certain persons annoy.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)
Don't let your curiosity get the better of you. It just COULD lead you into a ticklish situation which would prove far from desirable.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)
This day is especially tailored for scientific matters; professional, technical workers; also has bright prospects for teachers, students. New ideas stimulated.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)
Sincere endeavor and accuracy could carry you far beyond expectations if you put them into force and direct your energies into constructive channels.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)
Tip-top Mars influences stimulate possibilities of progress. You should feel buoyed for action. Details, tedious work, well-handled, can bring fine returns.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)
Jupiter's auspicious influence fans the fire of enthusiasm for dedicated purpose, popular enterprises. This should be a day to remember.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)
Saturn favorable. This is the time to press forward with all the grit and good will you can (and that can be a great deal when the Capricornian really tries).

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)
In making changes or starting anything new, consider all possible after-effects. Weakness in spots must be shored up.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)
Some favorable hours; others will present unexpected obstacles. With self-confidence and your innately philosophical attitude, you can take all in stride.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with keen judgment and analytical ability. Extremely ambitious, you have enough fervor and enthusiasm to reach top goals, though the road may be rough, even staggering in spots. This inner drive aids others about you, too, and you will draw people to you through sheer magnetism, but you MUST learn to curb stubbornness and inflexibility, which often lead you to extremes. You are capable of heading a large organization, could even lead an army or a great country; could also shine as jurist, diplomat or dramatic actor.

Nixed penalty restores rights

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The lifting of the penalty of excommunication for Roman Catholics remarried after divorce openly welcomes them back into participation in the church — but not into sharing Holy Communion.

Baptists hold crusade

Evangelist Mel Dibble is returning to Washington C.H. to lead a "New Life Crusade" sponsored by the First Baptist Church, 301 E. East St., beginning Sunday, Nov. 20, through Sunday, Nov. 27.

The services will be held nightly at 7:30 and on Sunday mornings at 10:30. The evangelist and song leader, soloist Dave Edwards of Southgate, Mich., will also conduct special programs over WCHO radio at 11:30 a.m. daily.

In 1950, Dibble's interest turned to radio and television and he became the NBC television network's star on "Straw Hat Matinee" and "Breakfast Party," an early morning telecast. During that period in his life, he became acquainted with Billy Graham and re-dedicated his life to Christ.

He worked with Billy Graham in the New York City crusade directing the radio and television programs. He was also emcee for the telecast "Impact."

Prior to his television career, Dibble and his wife were involved in singing evangelism. He is noted as an outstanding musician and is a theological graduate of Wheaton College.

Coach speaks on drug abuse

Gary Shaffer, varsity basketball coach at Washington Senior High School, will speak on the problems of drugs and alcohol at 6:30 Sunday evening, Nov. 20, in the Fayette Bible Church.

Concerned with drug and alcohol abuse among young people, Shaffer has attended health and human affairs conferences sponsored by the Ohio Department of Education in Columbus for the past two years.

Shaffer, a teacher at WSHS since September, 1968, has taught health, physical education and biology as well as assuming the duties of head basketball coach. A graduate of West Virginia University in Morgantown, W. Va., he served one year as a graduate assistant in the university's physical education department before teaching and coaching a year in Easton, Md.

The coach is presently working towards a master's degree in health and physical education at Xavier University in Cincinnati.

He has led crusades in all 50 states and is active in religious conferences and seminars throughout the country.

Dave Edwards travels full-time in concert programs, evangelistic crusades, choir clinics, special meetings, conferences and banquets. He has been involved with summer camps and conferences for several years, working with thousands of teenagers and adults as well.

Special events

CHILLICOTHE

Youth Outreach will present an evening rally on Saturday, Nov. 19, at 7:30 p.m. at the Brookside Church on Egypt Pike in Chillicothe.

The rally will feature a strong man show by Curt Haywood, Mr. World, and music by the Young Disciples from Dayton.

WASHINGTON C.H.

Raymond Umstead, Jr., will speak during the morning worship service Sunday, Nov. 20, at the Assembly of God, 226 E. Market St.

The son of the church's minister is currently in his final year at the University of Cincinnati's College of Law.

Rev. Gene Kulik, an ordained minister from Columbus, will speak at the 7 p.m. worship service.

"Make a joyful noise unto the Lord, all ye lands...Enter into his gates with thanksgiving, and into his courts with praise: be thankful unto him, and bless his name."

Familiar words from the 100th Psalm will be read Thursday, Nov. 24 at all Thanksgiving services of Churches of Christ, Scientist.

The Washington C.H. Christian Science Church, 504 E. Temple St., will hold its services at 10 a.m. Thanksgiving Day. The service will include reading of the Thanksgiving Proclamation of President Jimmy Carter and a Bible sermon on the subject of Thanksgiving.

Marvin Thornburg, first reader, and Pheobe Roberson, second reader, will conduct the service, which also includes testimonies of gratitude by church members.

No collection will be taken at the service. Everyone in the community is welcome to attend.

However, for the nation's estimated three million remarried Catholics — half of the six million who have divorced — various moderating moves have taken place to smooth their way back into full communing participation.

Basically, this requires a conclusion that the previous marriage was not a real one. This is possible in varying ways under church principles.

But formally, such a decision must come from diocesan marriage tribunals. Their procedures have been simplified and speeded up to facilitate the process, although it still is clogged in handling the volume.

Broader grounds for annulments also now range from psychological or emotional immaturity at the time of the first marriage to evidence of merit in the second.

While the number of annulments has swelled 30 fold in the last eight years, it still falls far short of the number of Catholic divorces. Also policies of the tribunals vary sharply from diocese to diocese.

Other than tribunal decisions of annulment, another way divorced, remarried Catholics can return to Communion is through "internal forum" decisions in their own, informed consciences.

This private alternative is occurring increasingly, through pastoral counseling, when evidence is unavailable for a formal tribunal annulment, but when the conclusion is reached in "good faith" that grounds exist for it anyway.

Such a decision, however, does not recognize the validity of the second marriage in the eyes of the church community.

H.

Camp Fire Awards presented at annual dinner

CF OFFICERS FOR 1978

The Burnett-Ducey VFW Post, W. Elm St., was the setting Tuesday evening for the annual dinner and special awards meeting of the Paint Valley Council of Camp Fire Girls, Inc. Leaders, assistants, sponsors, members of the Board of Directors, and special guests were served a catered dinner by Maxine Gilmerr.

Special table decorations were made by the Happy Blue Belles Blue Bird group (Gigi Frogale, leader). Place cards were made by the Wadataka Ahneah Adventure Club (Carrie Ferguson, leader). The Wicaka Manuka Adventure Club girls, Karen Anders, leader, made the favors.

Kelly Blue led the Pledge of Allegiance and the Lord's Prayer was presented in Indian sign language by the Wi Fa Lo Wedo Luta Discovery and Horizon Club, Dorothy Sanderson, leader, and the Wahanka Ka Ta Discovery Club, Jean Yarger, leader.

Paul Edgington, president of the Paint Valley Council, introduced special guests: Mr. and Mrs. Don Murdock, Walter Wingeier, Romaine Hughes, Edward Fisher, and Frank Henry. Mr. Edgington also introduced members of the 1977 Board of Directors.

Bonnie Blue, co-chairman of the Program Committee, introduced committee chairmen who made their annual reports. Program co-chairman Shirley Harris reported on skating parties, Heart Fund Balloon Sale, Cancer Fund Daffodil Sale, Potlatches, Annual Trip to King's Island, Council Fire, and the Annual Dinner.

Mary Marchant reported on the fire damage to the camp site during the early spring which killed most of the 10-year old trees. Dorothy Sanderson announced that 101 adults and youth had participated in the day camping program in June. She presented charms to first year counselors Sandy Smith, Lynn Sanderson, Cyndi Morton, and Virginia Elzey. Second year counselors receiving charms were Sharon Grooms and Aileen Wilson. Charms were also presented to third year counselor Bonnie Blue, and fourth year Pat McDaniel, Carrie Ferguson, Perk Anderson, Shirley Harris and Mary Ann Edgington.

Mrs. Sanderson also reported that 145 exhibits from 17 groups were included in the Camp Fire booth for the Junior Fair. Juanita James reported on the number of awards given to youth members, particularly stressing a total of 171 Ho To Se Awards representing 1756 hours of community service.

JoAnn Brady reported for the Group Organization committee that 91 girls and 37 adults had been added to the registration this fall. A new group is to be organized at the Fayette Progressive School this week, and Blue Jay groups will be organized for boys 6 to 8 if enough interest is shown. Mrs. Brady also introduced leaders, assistants, and sponsors present.

Mildred Wheat presented leader ties and certificates to five leaders for having 10 hours of training: JoAnn Brady, Virginia Elzey, Sharon Grooms, Pat Lively, and Lynn Sanderson. A tie tack was presented to Bonnie Blue who has completed 32 training hours and a charm to Carrie Ferguson for 48 hours.

Special awards presented to adult members are given each year at the annual dinner. Juanita James, chairman, presented the following awards: Certificates for three year membership were given to Karen Anders, Carolyn Ferguson, Bonnie Hurley, Janice Boswell, Barbara Wyatt, Paul Edgington, and Bert Yarger. Five year pins were presented to Jean Yarger, Carrie Ferguson, Pat McDaniel, Linda Hatmacher, Bonnie Blue, Shirley and Charles Harris, and Frank Sanderson.

Certificates of Appreciation and tie tacks were given to Ron Blue and Tom Grooms for their work in repairing the bus. New charms for those serving six or more years on the Board of Directors were presented to Betty Wood, Cindy Sagar, Mary Marchant, Dorothy and Frank Sanderson, and Juanita James.

Charms were given to Shirley Harris and Bonnie Blue for their work with the program, to Sharon Grooms for publicity, to JoAnn Brady, leader chairman, Pat McDaniel, leaders secretary, and Mildred Wheat, Mary Marchant and Juanita James for revising the by-laws.

The Shawnequas Award for Excellence in program services was given to Mary Ann Edgington, Cindy Sagar and Jean Yarger. A plaque was presented to the retiring president, Paul Edgington.

The Camp Fire's highest award for leadership over a period of years, the Dr. Luther Halsey Gulick Award, was presented to Mary Marchant, a 16-year member of the organization.

The nominating committee, consisting of Mildred Wheat, chairman, Bonnie Blue, Shirley Harris, Juanita James, and Barbara Wyatt, presented the slate of officers who were elected. The Board of Directors for 1978, installed by Mr. Ed Fisher, former

Driving sessions sponsored by Farm Bureau Women

The Fayette County Farm Bureau Women's Committee recently held two sessions of the Defensive Driving School. There were 50 participants at each of the sessions which were taught by instructors from the Ohio Safety Council in Columbus. These schools are sponsored periodically by the Farm Bureau Women's Committee at the request and with the cooperation of Judge Rollo Marchant.

Mrs. Art Schaefer served as chairman of the group which assisted by taking attendance, making arrangements for facilities and serving refreshments. Those helping Mrs. Schaefer included Mrs. Wayne Hidy, Mrs. Dale Ritenour, Mrs. Robert Bock, Mrs. Russell Grice and Miss Louise Ritter.

Jaycees slate weekly drive

The Washington C.H. Jaycee chapter will be holding its weekly paper drive from 10 a.m. until 12 noon Saturday at the Seaway parking lot on Clinton Ave.

Anyone having newspapers, catalogs and magazines are urged to bring them to the collection site where the Jaycees will be on hand to unload cars.

The Jaycee red paper shed is located at the east end of the Seaway parking lot where paper may be dropped off at the convenience of Jaycee paper savers. The shed is open 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

Serving as chairman of the paper drive committee is Leroy Farris.

Ann Judson Circle

Mrs. Mable McCoy and Jean and Miss Mabel Briggs were hosts to 11 members and one guest, Mrs. Frank Reno, of the Ann Judson Circle of First Baptist Church.

Mrs. Margaret Hurtt, chairman, opened the meeting by reading the poem, "The First Thanksgiving" and Mrs. Judy Hurtt read Psalm 106, and an article, "Founded on the Rock."

Minutes of the previous meeting were read and roll call was responded to by telling for what each was thankful. Communications were read from missionaries Dick and Jackie Rutter in Peru.

The state project, scholarship fund, Burma and scholarship girl were all remembered. The Love gift and regular offering were taken and Mrs. Ralph Wolford read "A Grain of Mustard Seed."

Mrs. Frank Reno was guest speaker and used for her topic the book, "Brother Andrew."

A dessert course was served during the social hour.

Comrades of Second Mile hold meeting

The Comrades of the Second Mile met in the home of Mrs. Mary Foster. Mrs. Joe Giebelhouse, president, opened the meeting with the poem, "In Gratitude" by Vera Harden. Devotions were given by Mrs. Rex Bloomer, who read "Let Me Give," and Scripture.

She also explained the meaning of The Lord's Prayer and said it is just as meaningful today as when it was composed.

Reports were presented and Thanksgiving plates for friends and shutins will be prepared Tuesday prior to Thanksgiving at the Bloomingburg Methodist Church. Members voted to give a contribution to Church Women United for gifts for needy children at Christmas.

The program was presented by Mrs. Jack Sollars concerning the disciple, Matthew. She said that Matthew was probably the most learned of all the disciples. His whole life was transformed from a tax collector to a disciple, and that one knows very little about Matthew as a disciple, but his great contribution to Christianity is his careful record of the teachings of Jesus.

The meeting was closed with the benediction and refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Bloomer.

Members present were Mrs. Foster, Mrs. Bloomer, Mrs. Sollars, Mrs. Giebelhouse, Mrs. Grace Iden, Mrs. Lydia LaFollette, Mrs. Dale Thornton, Mrs. Alice Cory, Mrs. Eli Craig, Mrs. Richard Thompson, Mrs. Dan Thompson, Mrs. Alvin Writsel, Mrs. Gilbert Biddle, Mrs. Glenn Heistand and Mrs. Donald Denen.

Maple Grove Women meet

Mrs. Marion Dawson was hostess when the Maple Grove United Methodist Women met in her home this week. Mrs. Neil Rowland conducted the meeting and Mrs. Harold Craven and Mrs. Locie Eckle presented devotions and program. In response to roll call, each gave a verse from the Bible with the word "thanks" or "Thanksgiving" in it. Mrs. Eckle read a recipe for Thanksgiving.

Mrs. Craven read Scripture from Philippians, Psalms, First Corinthians and Colossians. Mrs. Eckle read an article, "What Happened to Thanksgiving?" and Mrs. Roy Gilmerr gave a prayer for missionaries.

The ladies reported they had finished the mince meal project, and they had met each Monday for the past eight weeks. The mince meal is for sale for $2.50 per quart.

The next project is a Christmas bazaar for Dec. 3, and the place will be announced. The Christmas meeting will be Dec. 14 in the home of Mrs. Craven. Cheer plates will be arranged and delivered. Members too ill for cookies, will be given a flower. There will be a $1 gift exchange.

Mrs. Conrad, district president, and Miss Maxine Gilmerr, district supportive community committee member, were guests and each told of their work and the part of the Maple Grove Women have.

The meeting was closed with prayer by Mrs. Rowland. During the social hour, a salad course was served to guests, and Arta Davis, Mrs. Wilbur Chaplin, Mrs. John Rowland, Mrs. Carey Daugherty, Mrs. Clyde Carman,

State may soon serve as self-insurer for 75,000 workers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state of Ohio soon may be acting as a self-insurer rather than purchasing private life and health coverage for its more than 75,000 employees.

Sen. Harry Meshel, D-Youngstown, introduced this week a bill that would allow a study of costs and empower state officials to adopt the plan if it proves feasible.

Calling the present system of private insurance "a drain on the state treasury," Meshel said he thinks the bill offers a potential for effective control and savings.

He said insurance for state employees during the 1977-79 biennium amounted to $90 million, an increase of about 40 percent from the previous two-year period.

Last year, the state began insuring its own vehicles on its own, but Meshel says it would take a change in current law to enable it to get into the field of life and health protection.

"We have too many imported turkeys coming into Ohio," according to Gov.

James A. Rhodes. The governor wants to increase consumption of homebred turkeys — the real thing that is.

Ohio, it seems, produces about $30 million worth of gobblers each year on turkey farms, but $70 million worth of birds is brought into the state.

Rhodes made his pitch for Ohio turkeys at a press luncheon sponsored by the Ohio Poultry Association and featuring such delicacies as turkey sausage, turkey bologna, turkey hot dogs, turkey pastrami and turkey salami.

"No big deal," was the governor's assessment of the affair. "You just had some turkey and we'll cut this (luncheon) down real short. We just want everyone to buy Ohio turkey."

Ohio voters could decide on the local level next year to allow Sunday sales of high powered beer and wine at carry-out stores.

The so-called Sunday six-pack bill takes effect Jan. 1, meaning local option elections could be scheduled for the June primary.

Beer and wine trade associations are advising caution among proponents, however. Once defeated, the question of Sunday carry-out sales could not be resubmitted to voters for four years.

Budget Director William W. Wilkins, the paperwork policeman, wants to order a moratorium on filing cabinets and other storage equipment at state agencies.

Wilkins, who is trying to cut down on some of the 40,000 or so forms used by the state, notes that it costs $520 to own and operate a standard four-drawer legal cabinet.

"At this cost," Wilkins said, "it is advisable to deny all requests for new equipment thus forcing more economical storage practices."

Local man hurt in tumble from cab of pickup truck

A Washington C.H. resident suffered injuries when he fell from the cab of a pickup truck Thursday in Washington Cemetery.

Frank R. Myers, 60, 119 Kennedy Ave., complained of back pain and was taken to Fayette County Memorial Hospital in a private vehicle, according to Washington C.H. police officers. Hospital officials said Myers was treated for contusions and later released.

Paul W. Myers, 38, 817 Broadway St., was pulling the truck into the barn area of the cemetery about 11:30 a.m. when the passenger door flew open and the elder Myers fell from the cab, police officers reported.

A Winchester woman suffered minor injuries when her car was struck by another vehicle Thursday morning on U.S. 62 northeast of Madison Road, according to a Fayette County Sheriff's Department report.

Sheriff's deputies stated 36-year-old Carrie P. Bishop of Winchester was injured, but was not treated at the time of the crash.

Ms. Bishop was reportedly turning left into a private drive when her car was rear-ended by another car attempting to pass her. The crash, which occurred about 8:23 a.m., caused severe damage to the Bishop vehicle and moderate damage to the other car, driven by Robert A. Russell, 29, 4944 Ohio 41-N. Russell was not injured.

Sheriff's deputies reported a deer was struck by a semi tractor-trailer early Thursday on I-71 about a half-mile south of Ohio 41.

Marvin Flore, 49, of Dayton, was southbound on I-71 around 5:15 a.m. when a deer ran into the path of his rig. No damage resulted to the vehicle, according to the sheriff's report.

A Fayette County game protector was on the scene to remove the injured animal.

Severe damage resulted when a New Holland youth lost control of his vehicle and crashed into a fence off Lauderdale Road about a mile north of U.S. 22 Thursday night.

Sixteen-year-old Jeffrey A. Bryant, New Holland, failed to negotiate a right curve in the road, broad slid into a ditch and crashed into a wire fence damaging about six rods. The vehicle overturned and landed back on its wheels, sheriff's deputies reported, but Bryant escaped injury.

In a report of a minor accident, sheriff's deputies stated an unknown object either struck the front of a pickup truck causing slight damage Thursday along U.S. 35 just southeast of Ohio 753.

The object was either thrown up from the tire of another pickup or fell out of the bed of the truck and bounced on the road. Paul Winterbotham Jr., 21, 2414 Bogus Road, told investigating deputies there was nothing in the bed of his truck that would have fallen out.

The driver of the damaged truck was Paul R. Dyer, 38, of Dayton.

Scenic rivers progress eyed

BRYAN, Ohio (AP) — An Interior Department official said Thursday he is dismayed at the slow progress of the National Wild and Scenic Rivers System but voiced high praise for Ohio's efforts toward saving its scenic rivers.

Robert L. Herbst, the department's assistant secretary for fish, wildlife and parks, said Congress passed the national rivers act almost a decade ago, but the system still has are only 19 rivers totaling some 1,640 miles.

"Of the four rivers in the national system that are state-administered, two of these — the Little Miami and the Little Beaver — are in the southern part of Ohio," said Herbst, who spoke at a Save Our Rivers dinner here.

The assistant secretary said the act creating Ohio's system in 1968 was signed seven months prior to the federal law.

He spoke kind words for the ability of citizens and local governments to work together on conservation efforts in Ohio.

Specifically, he pointed to the work of George R. Palmiter of Montpelier, who received the 1977 conservation award of Outdoor Life magazine at the dinner.

Herbst said Palmiter's work in restoring the natural river dynamics of the Saint Joseph and Tiffin rivers in northwestern Ohio was innovative work. Palmiter organized the cleanup of fallen trees and other material blocking the flow of the rivers.

Judge nixes challenge on women's delegates

CINCINNATI (AP) — A federal court judge has rejected an 11th-hour challenge of Ohio's delegation to the International Women's Year convention in Houston.

On the eve of the convention, U.S. District Judge Carl B. Rubin Thursday rejected a request for a preliminary injunction which would have prevented the 56 elected delegates from attending the event.

Opponents charged that chaotic conditions at the state convention last June resulted in a delegation which did not fairly represent the state.

Rubin admitted he was in an untenable position because of the time situation involved.

"I am faced with the choice of either these delegates or no delegates," Rubin said. "I believe that no delegates represents substantial harm."

The federal judge admitted that if he had the problem earlier he might have had the option of choosing between the current delegation and ordering a new election.

The judge also questioned whether the means of determining representation could be questioned after the election had been held.

"I don't believe you can sit back and wait for the results and then raise the issue," Rubin said.

"If you have open nominations, you can have equal representation only by accident. You have to insure something like that beforehand."

The coalition of nine groups opposing the delegation had charged that it did not fairly represent the state's women in such areas as race and age.

Randall Bloch, an attorney arguing against the delegation, suggested that there had been chaos at the convention and that polls had not been opened for the required amount of hours.

In addition, she cited examples of delegates stalling lines or milling around the voting places.

Sue Gettys, an attorney for the National Organization for Women, said after the hearing that the confusion had been created by "Right to Life" groups.

Rubin admitted in his closing argument that there was confusion and unforeseen difficulties.

There was, however, not enough evidence to determine that the confusion had substantially interfered with the right to vote.

Ms. Bloch suggested that Ohio would not have gone totally unrepresented since it had 10 delegates at large which could attend the conference.

Catherine Ribnick, an attorney with the Department of Justice, told Rubin that it was necessary to have the entire delegation in Houston.

"The loud silence of Ohio would be extremely destructive," she told the judge.

County prisoner treated for pain

A prisoner in the Fayette County jail, complaining of pain in his right shoulder and arm, was transported to Fayette County Memorial Hospital in a Washington C.H. police cruiser early Thursday.

According to a police department report, Samuel Penwell of Washington C.H., currently serving a term in the county jail, complained of the pain about 1:58 a.m. He was checked by emergency room doctors, who reportedly stated the pain was due to arthritis.

Officers had thought the pain could have been a possible heart attack because of its location on the right side of Penwell's body.

The man was later released from the hospital and returned to the county jail.

Assistant attorney planning to resign

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Assistant U.S. Attorney Robert Steinberg, who heads the Dayton office of the U.S. attorney for the Southern District of Ohio, plans to resign at the end of November.

Steinberg, 34, was an assistant in the U.S. attorney's office in Cincinnati three years before becoming senior assistant in charge of the Dayton office since 1970.

He cited the demands of the job as the reason for his resignation, saying he is quitting "because of my family."

Steinberg declined to say what his plans are after Nov. 30.

Brown schedules meet with election officials

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Secretary of State Ted W. Brown has summoned election officials from Fayette County to his office for a Monday morning meeting to discuss proper implementation of voter registration in the county.

"The passage of State Issue 1 has mandated that all Ohio counties have voter registration," Brown said. "We wish to make the transition as easy as possible for the counties involved."

Brown said over 100 officials including directors, deputy directors and boards of elections members from 26 of Ohio's counties would probably be present for the meeting.

Officials from Carroll, Darke, Fayette, Harrison, Henry, Highland, Hocking, Jackson, Madison, Meigs, Mercer, Monroe, Morgan, Morrow, Noble, Ottawa, Perry, Tuscarawas, Van Wert, Vinton, Wyandot, Belmont, Columbiana, Guernsey, Union and Logan counties will be attending the Monday morning meeting.

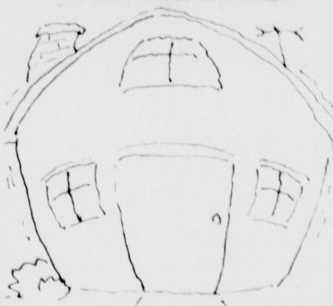

"Most of these counties initiated voter registration at the general election," Brown said, "but it is of utmost importance to ensure that this registration is continued and completed well in advance of the 1978 primary election."

Fayette County elections officials began implementing countywide voter registration requirements by having voters at the recent general election complete the necessary forms.

Area man hurt in rural crash

An area man suffered minor injuries when he was struck by a car Wednesday in a driveway off Ohio 753 south of Bogus Road.

Jeffrey Vandergriff, 22, of 4127 Ohio 753, was struck when a car skidded into his driveway after being rear-ended by another vehicle around 10:35 Wednesday morning.

The Record-Herald reported in Thursday's edition that Vandergriff's wife, Rita, 21, was the only injury in the accident. But both Vandergriff and his wife were taken to Fayette County Memorial Hospital in a private vehicle.

He was checked by emergency room personnel and released. However, Vandergriff was examined by his private doctor Thursday night and reportedly suffered bruises of his right leg and possible tissue damage.

His wife had been treated at the hospital for multiple abrasions and released.

Navy recruit died of neglect in boot camp

By JACK ANDERSON
WASHINGTON — This is the story of a young recruit who died of neglect in the Navy.

An autopsy showed he died of a heart attack caused by massive liver damage. It is believed his liver was eroded by Wescodyne, a toxic disinfectant used carelessly at the Navy's boot camp in San Diego.

The medics at the San Diego naval hospital possibly could have saved him. But they thought he was a "crybaby" and ignored severe symptoms.

The attitude of the medical personnel, according to an official report, was "that recruits exaggerate or falsify illness in order to avoid portions of their training."

The tragedy occurred a year ago but has been buried in the Navy's confidential files. We have now had access to these forbidden files. We have agreed to tell the story without identifying the victim, however, to protect the privacy of his family.

Navy investigators found shocking, shameful violations of health and safety standards at the San Diego training center, where the unfortunate recruit apparently was overexposed to Wescodyne.

Alleges a confidential report: "Command directives concerning the use of Wescodyne clearly state that it is not to be issued in concentrated state to recruits, nor is it to be stored in the barracks in concentrated state. . . Both of these directives were being violated."

The recruits who mixed and applied the hazardous disinfectant were not properly supervised, and the toxic chemicals "were not properly labeled with the standard diamond warning insignia," the report charges.

The investigative documents suggest that the recruit was suffering from severe liver damage caused by "the probable repeated exposures at the Recruit Training Command." This may have been "amplified by his contact with organic solvents as a painter and laundry worker prior to his enlistment."

In any event, he collapsed after a strenuous run at the boot camp and was rushed to the naval hospital. His symptoms included confusion, disorientation, weakness, impaired vision, continued hyperventilation and recurrent vomiting.

Yet the medical personnel considered him a "crybaby" whose illness wasn't serious. The hospital also failed to give him proper medical tests when he was admitted.

States the report: "Studies appropriate for the evaluation of a patient who has collapsed during strenuous exertion . . . were not obtained. These studies assumed increased importance after the first 24 hours" in view of his obvious symptoms.

Two days later, fellow patients reported that the recruit was breathing irregularly and had started to turn blue. Yet incredibly, the medical personnel refused to take the reports seriously. Shortly thereafter, he was dead.

The investigative report claims that the recruit's "deteriorating changes" were called to the medical corpsman's attention by other patients "in a timely manner" but that she "failed to recognize the seriousness."

Charges the report: "She perceived the recruit as having been faking and complaining all day, and it was this perception, combined with (other factors) . . . which most probably resulted in her failure to respond in a timely manner."

A Navy spokesman told us corrective action has been taken in connection with both the toxic chemicals and treatment procedures. He also said that the medical personnel in this case have been properly counseled.

But Rep. Thomas Downey, D-N.Y., has written a private letter to Navy Secretary Graham Claytor demanding an in-depth investigation.

Who's News: Whispers persist in Washington that President Carter had a traumatic reaction after he was defeated for governor of Georgia in 1966, that he plunged into a period of deep depression. We put the question straight to the president. His response: "This has been highly exaggerated. People have let their imaginations run wild. I never did have any trauma or doubt my own ability after the '66 election. As a matter of fact, the day after the election, before I even left Atlanta to go home, I met with my key advisers, and we made plans that day for the governor's race in 1970. So there never was any doubt about my withdrawing from the political life or having a setback in my own ambitions. . . I never did break down or weep or go into an emotional state."

Recent press reports claim that Teamsters boss Frank Fitzsimmons is read to step down as leader of the embattled truckers' union. This comes as no surprise. We reported last March that Fitz, as he is known to friend and foe alike, wants out. Our sources told us he is tired and concerned about federal investigations. Fitz has only himself to blame.

He has allowed the corruptive influence of slick businessmen and mobsters, who know how to bend the pension laws, to tarnish the Teamsters image.

For years, the Occupational Safety and Health Administration has been criticized by organized labor for not cleaning up squalid work facilities. Now President Carter has nominated a former Nader's raider, a tough, 30-year-old named Bert Cottine, to fill a vacancy in the three-member review commission. This is the highest judicial body within the embattled agency. But behind the scenes, arch-conservative

Sens. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., Jesse Helms, R-N.C., and Jake Garn, R-Utah, are trying to hold up Cottine's nomination. They complain that he is too young and too pro-labor for the job.

Three persons purchasers

Four Campbell estate tracts bring $283,433

Four parcels of land containing a total of 82 acres in the estate of the late Clarence L. Campbell brought a total $283,433 or an average of $3,456.50 per acre at public auction Thursday.

Frank J. Weade, the realtor-auctioneer who handled the sale, said the four parcels of land sold separately to three different buyers.

The 82-acre Campbell farm is situated just north of Washington C.H., fronting on Lewis Road and Hickory Lane in Union Township.

The first parcel, a 9.349-acre tract, farm buildings and a two-story home, was sold to Dr. Gary D. Junk, 4042 U.S. 62-NE, a local veterinarian, for a total of $84,000.

The farm purchased by Dr. Junk is located near the intersection of Lewis Road and Hickory Lane.

The purchase included a 125-year-old brick residence with a three-room basement, adjoining milk house, and porches; two barns, measuring 50 by 36 and 36 by 24 feet, and miscellaneous farm buildings.

Weade said Charles J. Campbell, father of the late Clarence L. Campbell, was a well-known racing horse trainer and resided in the large brick homestead until he died in 1916.

In raising more than 100 horses, he used the triangular section of land between Lewis Road and Ohio 38 as his oval training track and produced numerous famous racing horses in the late 1800s and early 1900s.

The second tract, which contained

46.786 acres of land, was also sold to Dr. Junk for $111,116.75, or $2,375 per acre. The land is just north of the homestead and fronts for 1,821 feet on Hickory Lane.

Woodrow L. Deskins, 3758 U.S. 22-E, purchased the third parcel for a total of $39,354.30, or $3,650 per acre. The 10.782-acre parcel has frontage on Lewis Road and Ohio 38 and the triangular shaped tract is located near the Union Township garage and office building.

The fourth parcel was sold to Alfred L. Mayer, 7580 Ohio 38-NE, for $48,961.95 or $3,250 per acre. The rectangular shaped tract is just east of Ohio 38 and is zoned for business or residences.

George W. Campbell and Mary E. Dellinger are the co-executors of the Campbell estate and Robert L. Brubaker is the attorney.

Fire Department, will feature talented and skilled craftsmen and artists from Waynesville, Brookville, Bloomingburg, Dayton and Westerville, as well as from Washington C.H. and other surrounding communities. Registration fees from exhibitors and a 50-cent donation from each patron will comprise the craft fair proceeds.

Senate gets measure

Judge's pay boost approved by House

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Judges throughout the state court system would get substantial raises under legislation approved 85-5 by the House Thursday and sent on to the Senate.

The intent of the pay increases is to "attract the best people" to the bench, according to the sponsor, Rep. Harry J. Lehman, D-Shaker Heights.

"There will always be attorneys willing to take an appointment to the bench, irrespective of what the compensation may be," Lehman conceded.

State senators were not expected to take up the bill until next year and the raises would not take effect until April 1, 1978. Nevertheless, Rep. Irene Smart, D-Canton, elected on Nov. 8 to the municipal court bench in Canton, disqualified herself from the vote.

The salary of Ohio's Supreme Court chief justice would be raised from $43,000 to $60,000 — $10,000 more than the governor. Associate justices on the high court would go from $40,000 to $53,000.

Judges in the state's 11 district appeals courts would receive $49,000, compared to their present $37,000. Common pleas judges would move from a present scale, ranging from $23,500 to $34,000 — depending on population — to a range of $33,000 to $43,500.

Municipal court judges, also paid on a population scale, would see a $22,583-$31,000 range go to $33,000-$43,500.

The $6.1 million annual price tag on the raises would be shared, with the state paying $4.2 million and local governments $1.9 million.

An expected surplus from the "lifeline" utility discount program for the elderly and handicapped is supposed to provide the revenue.

Lehman said he would also support pay raises for other public employees, but noted that the Legislative Budget Office has indicated that money is not currently available.

Ruppert wins new trial in slaying of relatives

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Supreme Court today agreed to hear an appeal of a new trial granted to James Ruppert of Hamilton who had been convicted of killing 11 members of his family on Easter 1975.

John F. Holcomb, the Butler County prosecutor who won the earlier guilty verdict on 11 counts of aggravated murder, was granted a high court hearing on a reversal of the conviction ordered earlier this year by the 1st District Court of Appeals.

That court wrote unanimously that "the evidence that he (Ruppert) killed his brother's wife and their eight children (aged 4 to 17) was overwhelming and not controverted."

Names in the news

NEW YORK (AP) — Film director Franco Zeffirelli says one of the toughest decisions he's ever made involved winnowing down a field of 600 to 39 semi-finalists for the Jackie Cooper role in a new version of "The Champ."

Six hundred boys from all over the metropolitan area, aged 7 to 9, answered a casting call two weeks ago. The original movie was made in 1931.

After interviews with the 39 semi-finalists, Zeffirelli will choose 10 or 11 boys to read scenes from the script. Eventually all will be eliminated except three — one to play the Cooper role and the others to play his pals.

The reason the elimination process was tough, Zeffirelli says, is that "the kids in New York are so streetwise, they're like small adults." He says he found it "really incredible at the age of 7 to have such wisdom. And they have such beautiful, expressive eyes. That's what I zero in on."

The appeals court, however, reversed the guilty verdicts, which carried 11 consecutive life terms, because of a technicality.

Presiding Butler County Common Pleas Court Judge Fred B. Cramer and Ruppert's lawyer had told Ruppert that if he opted for a hearing before a three-judge panel rather than before a jury, the panel would have to make a unanimous ruling.

But in its guilty verdict, the panel — consisting of Cramer and Judges Robert L. Marrs and Arthur J. Fiehrer — found Ruppert guilty 2-1 with Cramer finding him innocent.

Ruppert asked for a new trial because he held his waiver of jury trial was not proper in that the court falsely told him that the verdict must be unanimous. That motion again was overruled with Cramer agreeing it should be allowed.

Ruppert appealed the conviction to the appellate court which found that the waiver of jury trial was not "knowing, voluntary and intelligent."

Ruppert had called police to his mother's home at 9:30 p.m. on Easter when the 11 bodies were found scattered about the first floor. The prosecution held that Ruppert had committed the murders according to a plan whereby he would, a sole family survivor, inherit $300,000 dollars.

Ruppert's defense, accepted by nine of 12 mental experts who examined the accused man, was that he was insane when he committed the murders.

Ruppert has been confined in the Lima State Hospital since July 1975, shortly after he was found guilty.

Panthers receive gold football

County dominates All-SCOL teams

By MARK REA
Record-Herald Sports Editor

Over sixty South Central Ohio League athletes were honored at last night's annual SCOL Fall Sports Banquet held at Washington Senior High School.

Athletes in football, golf, volleyball and cross country were honored by the league at last night's banquet.

Nearly 30 of the athletes came from Fayette County in the four sports honored. The program was opened by Washington C.H. principal Madrie Pfeifer and emceed by James Brickerhoff, principal of Madison Plains and president of SCOL Board of Control.

A special trophy was also award to Circleville High School as the 1976-77 all sports winner. The trophy is given for the most number of first place league finishes in all interscholastic sports.

John Moore and Jerry Mount of Washington C.H. received first team honors in golf as a result of their fine play last month. Gary Fisher also of the Blue Lions, received honorable mention.

The honorary captain was Bill Neal, a freshman from Teays Valley. He had the lowest stroke average in the league. Moore finished third and Mount was fourth.

Debbie Wheat of Washington C.H. captured first team honors in volleyball while Mindy Smith of Washington and Kathy Hanners and Brenda Carroll of Miami Trace earned second team honors.

Mindy Gossett of Greenfield McClain was the honorary captain of the seven member all-league volleyball team.

The Panthers dominated the all-SCOL football team much the way they dominated the league on the gridiron this season. They received 15 first team nominations of the 27 available.

Shawn Riley, Glen Cobb, Dave Hennessy, David Creamer and Dennis Combs all made the team both on offense and defense while Combs shared honorary captain honors with Gary Williams of Wilmington.

Riley was first team tackle and defensive end, Cobb was tackle and linebacker, Hennessy was guard and defensive tackle, Creamer was running back and deep back and Combs was running back and linebacker.

Also honored from Miami Trace were Bill Hanners, split end; Shane Riley, tight end; Art Schlichter, quarterback; John Burr, downman; and Scott Martin, cornerback. Keith Downing was selected second team center.

Larry Brickles and Duane Six were the Blue Lion representatives on the defensive first team. Brickles made it as a deep back and Six at a defensive end. In addition, Terry Wilson was selected second team split end, Bob Runnels was second team guard and Brickles was second team running back.

nessy, John Burr and head coach Fred Zechman. Second row: assistant coach Doug James, Shane Riley, Bill Hanners, Art Schlichter, Glen Cobb, Dennis Combs, Shawn Riley and assistant coach Bill Beatty.

Bucks ready for 'team up north'

By The Associated Press

Tough-talking Woody Hayes loves to hate Michigan and no better proof can be found than his continuous contempt of the Wolverines.

For public consumption, the Ohio State coach refuses to refer to his fierce Big Ten rival by specific name, as if it would leave a bad taste in his mouth. He calls Michigan only "that school up north" and refers to Michigan Coach Bo Schembechler as "that coach from that school up north."

Most people may not condone Hayes' violent feelings, but they can certainly understand them. The Michigan football team has given his Buckeyes plenty of trouble down through the years and Saturday figures to give them a little more in one of the biggest college football games of the year.

"This is really what football is all about," says Schembechler.

This is the 10th time in the last 11 years that the Ohio State-Michigan game will decide the conference title.

Signal-callers keep biting the dust

'Who's he?' in NFL quarterbacks

By The Associated Press

The list of starting quarterbacks, usually complete with "Who's Who" names in the National Football League, takes on more of a "who's he?" look this Sunday.

The Minnesota Vikings, who had Fran Tarkenton scrambling the opposition's defenses for virtually all of their 17 years, will have either Bob Lee, a veteran reserve, or rookie Tommy Kramer calling the signals against the Bears in Chicago.

Minnesota Coach Bud Grant says he may wait until Sunday before making up his mind. Tarkenton is out for the season with a broken bone in his right leg, suffered last Sunday against Cincinnati.

In San Diego, the Chargers may go with untested rookie Cliff Olander against the Oakland Raiders if James Harris' foot injury hasn't healed. Harris, hurt late in last Sunday's game against Denver, returned to play after Bill Munson suffered a broken leg.

The Green Bay Packers, who were counting so heavily on Lynn Dickey to restore them to contention, will now have to rely on either rookie David Whitehurst or recent acquisition Brian Dowling in Monday night's game against the Redskins in Washington. Dowling was cut by the Redskins during the preseason.

Sunday's other games are the New York Jets at Baltimore, Dallas at Pittsburgh, Los Angeles at San Francisco, Atlanta at New Orleans, Denver at Kansas City, Philadelphia at St. Louis, Cleveland at the New York Giants, Miami at Cincinnati, New England at Buffalo, Tampa Bay at Detroit and Houston at Seattle.

The Vikings, 6-3, have a two-game lead over the Bears and Detroit in the National Conference's Central Division. Chicago will be trying for a season split against the perennial division champs, having lost to them 22-16 in overtime a month ago.

Trying to turn around their fortunes against Oakland will be doubly tough for the Chargers without a healthy veteran quarterback at the helm. They haven't beaten the Raiders since 1968, an 18-game span, and were routed 24-0 in this season's opener. Oakland, 8-1 and still tied with Denver for first place in the American Conference West, has won four in a row since losing to the Broncos.

The Packers' biggest accomplishment this season, it would seem, will be avoiding last place in the NFC Central, thanks to Tampa Bay. Green Bay is 2-7. It holds a 13-9-1 edge over the Redskins but in the teams' last meeting, three years ago, Washington won 17-6. The Skins, thanks to Mark Moseley's club-record 54-yard field goal with 3:32 to play in Philadelphia, are still in the NFC playoff race with a 5-4 record.

The Jets can't wait for Richard Todd to return as their No. 1 quarterback. He sat out last Sunday's game against Seattle with a knee injury and watched as Marty Domres and rookie Matt Robinson combined to complete just 6 of 18 passes for 52 yards and 3 interceptions in the loss to the Seahawks.

The Colts, with Lydell Mitchell only 14 yards short of breaking Lenny Moore's alltime Baltimore rushing record of 5,174 yards, are still battling to retain their one-game lead over Miami in the American Conference East. The Dolphins face a Cincinnati squad out to rebound from a 42-10 shellacking by the Vikings.

Coach Tom Landry says Dallas' No. 1 draft pick, Tony Dorsett of the University of Pittsburgh, will start when the Cowboys visit the Steelers.

The Cowboys' lead over St. Louis in the NFC East was shaved to two games by the Cardinals last Monday night and Dallas' inability to generate an offense until Dorsett entered the game prompted Landry to go with the Heisman Trophy winner in place of Preston Pearson.

When the Rams and 49ers got together earlier this year, Los Angeles rolled up a deceptively high 32-14 score (it was 17-14 until the final period) for its 12th victory in the last 14 games against San Francisco.

But the 49ers, who lost their first five games this year, have now won four in a row and trail Atlanta by one game and the first-place Rams by only two in the NFC West. The Falcons, visiting the last-place Saints, don't exactly have a fondness for New Orleans. Last year they were bombed.

Ohio prep highlights

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — You would think the pressure would be unbearable for Cincinnati Moeller.

The Ohio prep football giant has won the last two state playoffs, owns an overall winning streak of 34 straight games and hasn't lost or tied its last 52 regular season games.

And the Crusaders are an overwhelming favorite to keep their Class AAA playoff crown starting tonight with semifinal opponent Toledo Central Catholic in Dayton's Welcome Stadium.

Gerry Faust, Moeller's fast-talking coach, was asked if there is extra heat on Moeller because of all of its success.

"It's an advantage of being in the playoffs before," he answered. "You better know how to handle the situation. Your kids are used to it."

Faust sees little difference in this year's 10-0-0 powerhouse and the one that walloped Gahanna in the 1976 finals.

They are going against a Cinderella story.

Toledo Central Catholic, 9-1-0, has qualified for the first time and even the governing Ohio High School Athletic Association did not think the Fighting Irish could do it.

"The OHSAA didn't even contact us ahead of time about the semifinal meetings. They must have thought Sandusky was going to be the team from our region," said Central Catholic Coach Beier.

Pittsburgh favored over Cowboys

By The Associated Press
It's as though a Hollywood script writer had somehow wormed his way into the National Football League.
Here we have Tony Dorsett, the heralded collegian from Pitt coming off Dallas' bench each week to breathe life into the Cowboys.
Here we have the fans, pleading with Coach Tom Landry to stop wasting time and make Touchdown Tony a starter.
Oh, it's going to be magnificent watching Tony return to the scene of so many triumphs. He'll be the star of the show, all right.
Only one problem — the Cowboys are gonna lose.

So much for Hollywood endings.
Last week's 9-5 mark put the season record at 86-40 for a .683 percentage. This week's picks:
Steelers 24, Cowboys 20
We happen to like Pittsburgh's defensive ferocity and offensive tenacity just a bit more. Besides, the Steelers need this game a lot more. And more than 50,000 bloodthirsty fans won't hurt, either.
Bears 21, Vikings 17
Minnesota without Francis is like a day without sunshine. And it'll be a dark day for the Vikes, who needed Tarkenton, the home-field edge and overtime just to nose out Chicago five weeks ago.

Saints 23, Falcons 10
How do you figure either of these clubs? We figure New Orleans is more capable of busting loose and will do so before the home folks.
Redskins 27, Packers 13
After getting clobbered by ABC last Monday night, NBC could show The Godmother against this dog and sweep the ratings.
Oilers 35, Seahawks 14
Billy White Shoes, Danny Soft Shoes ... Houston could wear snow shoes — or no shoes — and roll it up against Seattle's non-defense.
Rams 27, 49ers 20
San Francisco, squeaking by against so-so teams the past four weeks, learns again that the big boys can — and do — play rougher.

Browns 23, Giants 9
The same can be said for the Giants, which isn't saying much.
Dolphins 28, Bengals 21
Cincinnati just can't seem to get its act together. Miami wins with the basics and we'll take consistency every time ...
Lions 35, Buccaneers 10
... except in Tampa Bay's case.
Colts 41, Jets 8
Having a quarterback wouldn't hurt the Jets.
Patriots 30, Bills 16
Not even a blizzard would help Buffalo.

Pats crush Clark Tech

Southern State College won its first game of the season last night, crushing Clark Tech, 120-55. The Patriots placed seven players in double figures led by Johnny Hill with 18.
Kent Self scored 16, Mike Brickman had 15, Mike Kroger and Kevin Adams collected 14, Tim Partin had 11 and Dave Hanselman tallied 10.
Doug Phillips was held to a single field goal and just two points.
In reserve action, the South Campus edged the North Campus by one point in overtime.
The Patriots, now 1-0, will travel to meet Northwood, Ind., next Tuesday. The Northwood five was ranked 11th in the nation among junior colleges last season.

Back in 1894, Jacob Stenzel of the Pittsburgh Pirates hit two home runs in one inning.

MIRACLE MOVIE
NEW YORK (AP) — Roger Lewis will produce the H.G. Wells 1938 classic, "The Man Who Could Work Miracles," Paramount Pictures reported. Lewis, whose production credits include "The Pawnbroker" and the three "Shaft" features, will contemporize the screenplay to utilize the technical developments that have occurred since the original was filmed, Paramount said.

Satellite Unit For Hospital Care Planned

By JUDY BOCKLAGE
Associated Press Writer
PARIS, Ark. (AP) — The city of Paris and the St. Edward Medical Center at Fort Smith are undertaking what they believe is an innovative project — providing health care by long distance.

The Paris community has been without a hospital since the late 1960s, when a privately owned doctors' hospital closed.

Leaders in the community wanted a health facility closer than 20 or 40 miles away, but officials at St. Edward and their consultants advised them a rural community such as Paris could not economically support a full-fledged hospital. They suggested instead that Paris build a satellite.

Paris Mayor Bill Elsen said the new satellite could be smaller than a totally self-sufficient hospital need be, with the result that it would be cheaper for the patient.

"It is a major effort at cost containment, not only in the building, but also in the operation," said Sister Judith Marie Keith, administrator of St. Edward.

The Paris satellite will have 22 beds, X-ray equipment, laboratories, an operating room, an obstetrics unit and a nursery, just like any other hospital.

The savings result from the fact that the facility will not have to have a kitchen, laundry, or areas for supplies and accounting, Sister Judith said. It will use the facilities at the 341-bed medical center for those functions. Supplies will be transported the 40 miles between the two facilities daily.

Money for the $1.4-million construction cost was generated through a Farmers Home Administration loan, a grant from the Ozark Regional Commission, and a five-mill tax voters in Paris approved.

But Paris is not yet assured of even a satellite hospital. The contractual agreement between the city and the medical center says that Paris must help find doctors to staff the satellite. The shortage of doctors in Arkansas has been a statewide problem.

"We will not participate in the maintenance of the facility if, on the day the doors open, they do not have three full-time practicing physicians in Paris," Sister Judith said.

Groundbreaking is scheduled for the first of next year, with construction to be completed the following year.

"We feel the country is looking at this project because it's so innovative," Sister Judith said.

'Success' Is An Engaging Self-help Book

SUCCESS! By Michael Korda. Random House. 258 Pages. $8.95.

Unlike many of the writers of the "if at first you don't succeed, try, try again" books that are cluttering the bookshelves these days, Michael Korda has a sense of humor. Which is a blessing, since it makes his book, "Success!" fun to read even though the reader may not be willing to accept much of what Korda has to say about becoming successful.

Korda, who hit best-sellerdom with "Power! How To Get It, How To Use It," recycles some of the material from the earlier book in "Success!" but mostly it deals with new ideas, all aimed at showing the reader the path to success. The author's thesis is that "most people would rather succeed than fail — if only they knew how!" And, he has taken upon himself the task of showing how — in his opinion — one can rise to the top.

Whether or not Korda's instructions are realistically possible to follow is moot. But he does make his points in clear, concise prose that moves along effortlessly, nor does he stop the flow of his narrative periodically to preach or harangue. And, as has been noted, he does have a fine sense of wit which adds plenty of sparkle to a book that might otherwise have been ponderous reading.

The book is studded throughout with case histories of men, and women, who have made themselves a success, and it is in these sketches that Korda's most interesting material is to be found. The fields in which these people managed to snatch the brass ring and get the prize are varied — ranging from publications to hamburger chains — but the protagonists all share one quality — they succeeded.

The Perseids is a spectacular annual meteor shower that occurs each August. In 1921, observers saw up to 250 flashes per hour at the height of the shower, but 50 flashes is said to be average. The shower is named for the constellation Perseids, from which the meteors appear to originate.

Police also probe theft case

Auto parts stolen in local burglary

Approximately $1,000 worth of automobile parts were stolen from a S. Fayette Street residence sometime between Tuesday and Thursday. Washington C.H. police officers stated an unknown person or persons using a pry bar removed the hinges from a storage shed behind 613 S. Fayette St. and took a number of miscellaneous auto parts. Blanchard E. Hicks, 613 S. Fayette St., told investigating officers Thursday night that a circular power saw was also taken.

Police are continuing an investigation of the incident.

Officers are also investigating a theft of several power saws and two tires from a Sycamore Street garage sometime Thursday.

Someone entered a garage at the rear of J. T. Mastin's residence, 625 Sycamore St., through a broken window sometime between 9 p.m. Wednesday and 7 p.m. Thursday, according to the police department report.

The items stolen were valued at about $300. They included: a 14-inch chain saw; a two-speed sabre saw; a seven-inch rip saw; and two tires.

A citizen band radio and several other items were reportedly stolen early Friday from two vehicles parked in the driveway of a Mount Sterling residence, Fayette County sheriff's deputies reported.

Sometime between 11 p.m. Thursday and 5:15 a.m. Friday, someone entered an unlocked 1972 model Oldsmobile, belonging to Harry E. Rader Jr., 9325 Ohio 207 in Mount Sterling, and removed the CB radio, an antenna and a camera. According to the incident report, a 1969 model Ford pickup truck was also entered and eight tapes were taken from the dashboard. The stolen items were valued at over $140.

Glass windows on the front of two soft drink vending machines were smashed by vandals early Wednesday a service station on Ohio 38 at I-71.

An estimated $50 in damages resulted in the incident at the Sunoco service station, according to Fayette County sheriff's deputies, who discovered the damage while on patrol in the area.

One machine reportedly had marks around the lock indicating an apparent attempt to open it. The machines are owned by Scioto Coca Cola of Circleville. No other damage was reported.

Florence M. Bryant of Bloomingburg reported to Washington C.H. police officers someone took all the spark plug wires off her car Wednesday night while it was parked in the Terrace Lounge parking lot at Columbus and Glenn avenues.

According to the police department report, the wires were left on the car's engine and there was no real damage. The incident occurred sometime between 6:15 p.m. and 9:15 p.m.

Local grocery robbed

An E. Elm Street grocery store was robbed by a masked man Thursday night.

A Washington C.H. Police Department spokesman said a man entered Sagar's Dairy store at 212 E. Elm St. about 9:10 p.m. and approached the clerk with an object demanding money from the cash register.

The unidentified man, reportedly wielding a screwdriver, took an undetermined amount of money from the register and fled the store on foot.

The spokesman said officers are checking out information obtained last night and this morning in the continuing investigation.

Santa Claus hiring eyed

CINCINNATI (AP) - To succeed in a Santa Claus job one need not have a "little round belly that shakes when he laughs like a bowl full of jelly."

"We take all sizes. They're not really that padded. Their bulk is an illusion created in the proper way of belting them into the suit," said Fran Heffner, a hiring specialist for an employment agency.

"We take men of all ages, from the 21-year-old college student to a retired man," she explained. Manpower Inc. provides seasonal laborers to area shopping malls and stores. "They have to like children, meet the public well and be conversive."

"We do have some women who have been Santa Claus successfully."

The typical Santa is somewhere between 5-foot-8 and 6-3, she added. Santa's chores have grown considerably in the past few years. His season starts the Friday after Thanksgiving, traditionally the first Christmas shopping day.

"Some work seven days a week, from the Friday after Thanksgiving to Christmas Eve. Some work is shorter, about five days a week," explained Mrs. Heffner.

With those hours, even the jolliest St. Nick needs a break. A Santa should not work more than four hours to keep his sense of humor, Mrs. Heffner explained.

Prospective Clauses are screened carefully and the employment agency stresses the importance of personalities that are warm, friendly, outgoing, sincere, cheerful, clean, patient and generous.

Potential Santas are warned not to make any commitments to the children.

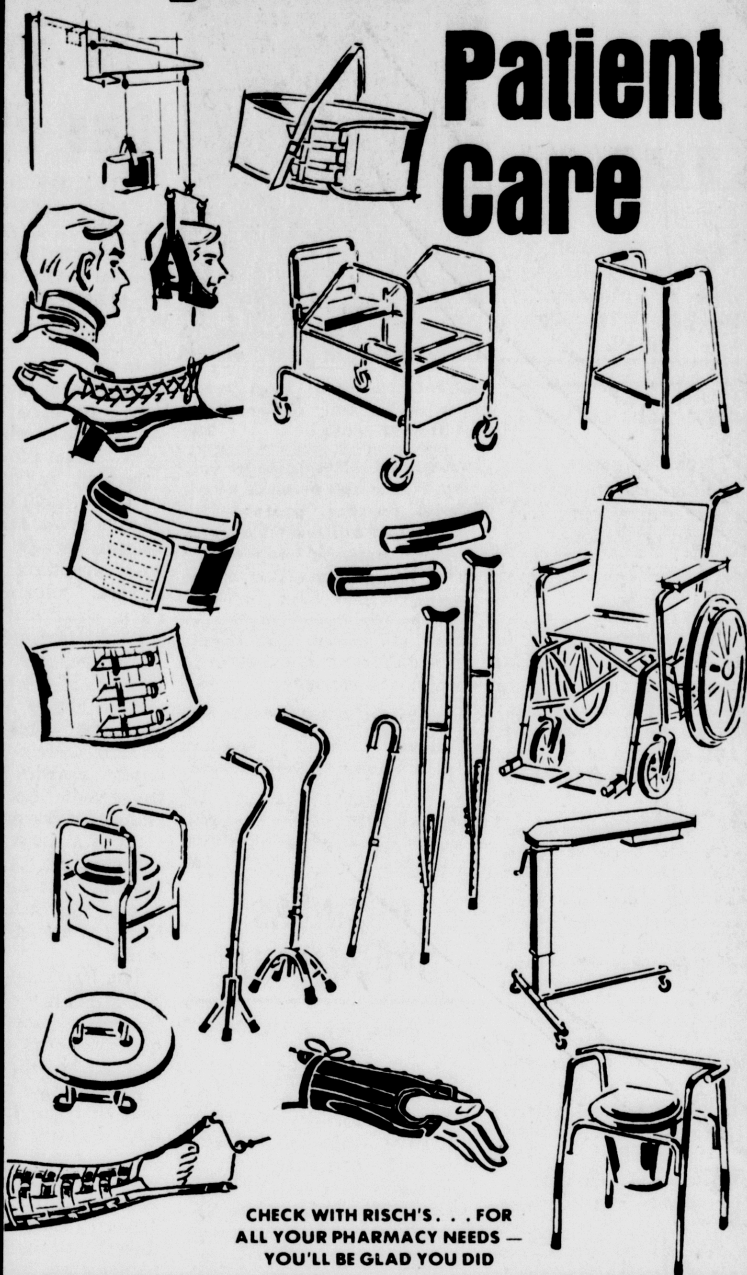

"They should talk to the child so as not to make any promises, but so the child does feel he did communicate his wants to Santa," Mrs. Heffner explained.

Once on the job, the seasonal employees will be watched periodically by Mrs. Heffner's own little elves.
